

Understanding Kenya-Somalia Dispute

There would be no dispute between Kenya and Somalia if the latter was a truly independent state. A truly independent state is a state that enacts policies, including foreign policy, that is in its own interests.

Somalia is a CLIENT STATE.

Ridiculous as it sounds, Somalia has been wanting to declare war on Kenya for quite some time now.

Somalia declaring war on Kenya is equivalent to Bangladesh declaring war on India. In both cases, it would mean that there are powerful countries urging them to declare war on their behalf.

Somali National Army (SNA) controls less than 25% of Somalia territory. The Al Shabaab terrorist group controls large areas of Somalia. Shouldn't defeat of Al Shabaab be SNA's top priority?

There has been reports that SNA was being mobilised at the Kenyan border between the towns of Bula Hawa (Beled Hawo) in Somalia and Mandera in Kenya.

Consider the following:

1. Somaliland declared independence from Somalia a long time ago. Yet, SNA has been unable to do anything about it.

2. Al Shabaab has killed thousands of innocent Somalis over the years.

- 2 months ago, at least 13 Somali troops were killed by the al-Shabab armed group near the district of Afgoye, northwest of the capital, Mogadishu.

In August, 2020, 10 civilians and a police officer were killed in a gun-and-bomb attack by al-Shabab on an upscale beachfront hotel in the capital.

- The al-Shabab claimed responsibility for December 2019 enormous car bombing in Somalia's capital Mogadishu that killed at least 81 people.

- On 14 October 2017, two truck bombings took place in Mogadishu, the capital of Somalia, killing at least 587 people and injuring 316 others. Once again, Al Shabaab was responsible for this massacre of mostly civilians.

Given the above, one would expect focus of Somalia Government to be about vanquishing al-Shabab and restoring law and order in the country. However, that is not the priority of the government of President Mohamed Abdullahi Farmaajo.

The problem with Somalia is that it is currently a CLIENT STATE of powerful non-African entities.

A CLIENT STATE has no foreign policy. Its foreign policy is what their foreign bosses say it is. Somalia government's non-African bosses want the country to remain UNSTABLE in perpetuity.

Will President Farmaajo declare war on Kenya, yet his country doesn't have a single tank, because that is what the powerful non-African entities, of whom Somalia is a CLIENT STATE want, so they - the powerful non-African entities - can attack Kenya thru proxy?

If Somalia declares war on Kenya, Kenya government must immediately sever diplomatic relations with Israel and Turkey.

That is the least Kenya can do - to let the world know who is behind Somalia government's hostile attitude towards Kenya.

NOTE: Kenya is among very few African countries whose citizens are not found desperately crossing the Mediterranean to migrate to Europe. Some powerful non-African actors do not like that.

Silvia Romano

Earlier this year, it was reported that Silvia Romano had been rescued in Somalia.

It was alleged that her location in Somalia was discovered by Turkish intelligence.

Up to date, Somalia President Farmajo believes that story is true. However, he doesn't know where Ms Romano was allegedly staying in Somalia, nor who had kidnapped her.

Imagine having a president who doesn't know what is going on in his own country? He is fed intel by foreigners, who have their own interests - interests that do not rhyme with his own country's interests.

Somalia President Farmajo is fed intel, some true, but most is FAKE.

Very dangerous situation.

Current situation in the world requires that a president must be very careful acting based on intel received regarding other countries.

Consider the case of Iranian scientist Mohsen Fakhrizadeh. He was killed by a remote-controlled weapon (gun).

NOTE: Iran has a powerful military and well trained intelligence officers. Yet, another country was able to, not only smuggle a dangerous weapon into Iran, but to also fire it at their chosen target REMOTELY.

Therefore, it is possible for a missile/rocket to be delivered CLANDESTINELY to country A & fired into country B.

Everyone will believe country A attacked country B...When powerful countries want to conquer a less powerful country, it is very easy for them to start WAR between previously friendly nations.

Somalia President Farmajo has agreed, without knowing, to be used to create enmity between his country and Kenya.

Will he finally realise that he is being used by powerful non-African nations to weaken Somalia and Kenya, so that these 2 powerful countries can eventually COLONISE both Kenya and Somalia??

About Arab League: No Arab country is in control of the Arab League. The League is controlled by one of the Non-Arab countries pushing Somalia to create enmity with Kenya.

Therefore, next time The Arab League sides with Somalia against Kenya, President Farmaajo should know it is not Arabs speaking, it would be the non-Arab state speaking through the League.

Somalia-Kenya Border Dispute

The sea boundary between Kenya and Tanzania goes East. The boundary between Kenya and Somalia is also Eastwards.

However, Somalia, the country with the longest coastline in Africa, has been ordered by the non-African states that control it, to demand that the sea boundary with Kenya should be South-East.

Contrary to what many people think, the non-African states' demand for Somalia to grab part of Kenyan ocean has nothing to do with minerals.

It is all about making Kenya to effectively become land-locked - so it can be conquered easily.

NOTE: When it comes to Kenya, Somalia President Farmajo was advised by the non-African States, of which Somalia is a CLIENT STATE, that Al Shabaab are allies.

Consequently, Al Shabaab terrorists have been able to cross into Kenya, commit atrocities, and head back to Somalia, with the knowledge and assistance of Farmaajo's government.

Is it not odd - and very telling - that Somalia is opposed to Kenya building a wall between the two countries?

If the illogical sea claim by Somalia was ever allowed, it would mean that every ship entering Kenyan ports from Europe/Asia would be a possible target by Al Shabaab-linked pirates, enabled by Farmaajo's government.

This is the motive behind the non-African States, of which Somalia is a CLIENT STATE, demand that Somalia claims that part of the Indian Ocean from Kenya.

They want to cripple Kenya economically, then colonise the country.
